Revulsion Against Senator Johnson Becomes Very Marked

HIS LEADERS TOUR

Criticism of Politics and Alliance With Hearst Is Heard

LOS ANGELES, July 18.—Never in the history of California politics has there been a more pronounced revulsion of popular sentiment against any incumbent of high political office than is manifesting itself against Hiram Johnson in the present senatorial cam-

This is plainly evidenced in the powerful support volunteered' to Charles C. Moore by the memberthe Johnson-for-Senator club of 1916.

Of this committee of Johnson leaders who handled his fight in 1916, thirty-six have already de clared for Moore and joined the Moore club. Only thirty-one have admitted they are for Johnson. There is strong criticism

Johnson's course on many public quesitons. His opposition to the four power pact-his close alliance with Hearst-the fact that his campaign in Los Angeles is in the hands of former Southern Pacific attorney, Frank P. Flint; Southern Pacific lobbyist, Frank P. Doher ty, and Leo V. Youngworth, all old machine men"; all these causing former supporters to fall away from Johnson at a rate which is alarming his leaders.

who have joined the Moore for-Senator club, includes the follow-

Truth Lives on While Everything Else Crumbles Away

Vol. 2-No. 168

"Truth lives," declares James W. Foley, and in "The Listening Post" this evening his wise philosophy is so assuring that one cannot doubt this statement, which is in conclusion to his assertions that "power fails, empire is dissolved, cities flourish and decay, fame is forgotten, beauty dies and nations perish." You will have to agree with Mr. Foley's statement that life is the greatest and most important thing in the universe.

Comment on news of the day by Henry James is, of particular appeal this evening as he discusses the brutal murder of a woman by a woman supposedly prompted by insane jealousy. He asks a question which since the dreadful deed was committed, has been uppermost in the minds of many persons, "What has the law to say Preceding this query is a discussion which is well wkorth reading.

Educational editorials this evening deal with constitutional freedom, courts hampered by tradition, Governor Stephens and branch banks. Besides this there are the daily fea-tures which are scanned with deep interest every evening by

BRAND-BROADWAY CONGESTION IS RELIEVED

P. E. and Montrose Lines to Stop Back of Corner to Avoid Autos

An agreement has been reached between Chief of Police Fraser and the Glendale-Montrose railway company, the Pacific Electric com pany, and the Glendale-Pasadena stage line, whereby the traffic conjestion on Broadway near Brand boulevard, will be permanently relieved. Heretofore with cars of these companies discharging and taking on passengers at this point, it has been, at times, almost impossible for drivers of automobiles to get through, and on a number of occasions the drivers of fire ap pratus have been compelled, while traveling west, to drive to the left of cars standing at this point, Hereafter the Glendale-Montrose and Eagle Rock cars will stop at Maryland and Broadway, and after discharging the passengers will go back to the switch a short distance east of this point to await the time of starting the outward trip. This will do away with these cars stand-ing on Broadway near Brand, where the congestion occurred.

The Glendale - Pasadena stages going east, will stop hereafter at the corner of Maryland and Broad way, instead of Brand and Broad while the west-bound stages will stop at their usual place, in front of the Pacific Electric depot.

The Pacific Electric company has also agreed to opperate with the local police authorities in re lieving this congested condition by running their cars, that are await ing the Burbank trailer, over on to the main line instead of parking it on Broadway until the Burbank car

There is no one so poor that he cannot have the Press-Newton concert, and all the con-certs in the Southern California district, according to Dean Williams, 11 years old, who lives with his parents near the Los Angeles high school. Over a contraption made of few paper clips, |22 cotton wrapped wire, an aerial made of a piece of wire found somewhere, a discarded salt can about 4-inch in size, he listened in on the Saturday concert, his father reported yesterday, and he got the whole program good and clear. He used no battery, bought practically nothing except the phone, which cost $6. The program came to him over the range to the southwest, traveling 15

Using the Literary Digest directions, he wound the 22 cotton covered wire on a salt can and fixed it with a pair of bross tacks. He used a hacksaw blade for the switch, he grounded with 32 copper wire, and connected up the leads. His father soldered a needle for the finder, and it worked. When he wanted to change the tuning, he moved the cap of the salt can.

"We get all the concerts," said his father, yesterday; "get them better than if we had a more elaborate set.."

The entire (set, except the phone, did not cost more than a dollar or so.

the direct vote of the people, whose right it is to determine how much money shall be used and for what purpose.

Even including these expanding activities, Callfornia's state government has increased its expeases less proportionately than any other big business within the state, and this increase has gone into developments which are vital to our future economic and business welfare.

In California after the war, reactionary interests sought to control the legislature and to weaken the administration, but a subtle and organized movement, which was as dangerous to the economic welfare and democratic government of our people as any corporate control that was ever exercised in the history of the state, but fortunately in battling against these forces the people were victorious.

I am fully aware that these selfish interests have thrown down the gauntlet in the coming election, and I feel called upon to fight again for the maintenance of government for the people by the people. The state's future is bright with promise. The rapidity of our progress and the safety of our institutions demand a government in which are combined a courage to inneet reactionary propaganda, and understanding of economic conditions, a cautious attitude toward increasing expenditures, a practical sympathy for the human welfare of our people and a constructive policy of state development.

To meet these demands I pledge my best endeavors.

In enjoining the activities of strikers, a New Hampshire court has forbidden them to write letters to workers, this being one of several procedures inhibited. It is doubtful that any court is properly authorized to say who shall or shall not write a letter. If the character of the missive is in itself objection-able, if it is threatening, or couched in violent or obscer.e terms, the remedy is easy. Freedom of speech and press is much cherished, and a letter is but the visible form of speech.

This is not to say that strikers in various places are not going to extremes that are and ought to be forbidden, and if persisted in, severely punished.

Attacks on the administration of Governor Stephens are somewhat irritating. When they charge extravagance, they are based on ignorance most profound, or they are causing figures to lie. The state does expend large sums, for it is a large state, of large affairs. Many functions that elsewhere come within county authority here are managed by the commonwealth, with results that favor economy. The state totals may look big. They are less than totals would be under the old plan of county management. Of course, this fact is quite within the grasp of the assailants of the governor, but they decline to grasp. The truth about the figures would not serve their purposes at all.

SONGS OF THE POETS

On the Tombs in Westminster Abbey-By Francis Beaumont (1586-1616)

Mortality, behold and fear! What a change of flesh is here! Think how many royal bones Sleep within this heap of stones: Here they lie had realms and lands, Who now want strength to stir their hands: Where from their pulpits scal'd with dust They preach, "In greatness is no trust." Here's an acre sown indeed

With the richest, royall'st seed That the earth did e'er suck in Since the first man died for sin: Here the bones of birth have cried-Though gods they were, as men they died." Here are sands, ignoble things, Dropt from the ruin'd sides of kings; Here's a world of pomp and state, Buried in dust, once dead by fate.

these observations suggest only academic questions. The actual question, the one concerning society, is what shall be done with the woman, this raving creature, poisoned by anger. Should she be punished? Will she be punished legally? In the soul of he there must be a punishment from which she never can be free.

In a general way, murder by a woman has been condoned. In this state many murders have been committed by women. In the ninettie Cordelia Botkin was sentenced to life imprisonment for a double killing She served the term. From that time until Mrs. Peete was convicted in Los Angeles, the hunting license of the female prone to blood-lust has been a sure protection.

DEST EXPLAINED BY
CHAIRMAN BEN, W. HOOPER
OF THE UNITED STATES RAILROAD
IN HIS STATEMENT OF HIM A IN IIIS STATEMENT OF JULY 1ST

The this case the conflict is not between the employer and the oppressed employes. The people of this country, through an act of congress, signed by President Wilson, established a tribunal to decide such disputes over wages and working conditions which are submitted to it in a proper manner. It is the decision by this tribunal against which the absorbate are striking.

"Begardies of any question of the right of the men to strike, the men who take the strikers places are merely accepting the wages and working conditions prescribed by a government tribunal and are performing a public service. They are not accepting the wages and working conditions which as employer is trying to impose. For this reason public sentiment and full governmental power will protect the men who remain in their positions and new men who may come in."

Adequate provisions have been made for the full protection of all new employes, the same as old amployes who here me mained loyally at work.

Isn't That a Charming Bungalow?

It is safe to say that no one yet has ever beheld an ugly bungalow. This style of dwelling is invariably picturesque, original and attractive.

But as there are degrees of beauty even in sunsets and roses, so there are degrees of attractiveness even in bungalows.

We think you will like this one. It is one of the very nicest of this type of home. Ask your architect or builder for an approximate figure as to its cost.

So Writes British Expert in Fifth Article of Series

By ELEC HERD (Written for the United Press) CHAPTER V

Editor's Note-In this fifth numper of his series on correct golf, the author continues dealing with the proper swing.

If you are driving a stake in the ground and the stake is held in po-sition by another man, the thoughts of the striker may be centered on the other fellow's hand, which he knows he must not hit. To avoid this calamity, he does not look at the hand, but at the top of the stake, which he desires to hit. The same thing applies in the golf

Another essential is to get the proper sweep or swing. Do not lift the club in the back swing; sweep along the ground for about a foot, the left arm swaying with it. Then the wrists start to turn. If you keep the left arm pretty straight at the beginning of the back swing, it will help to get the proper action

A great point is to get the wrists in proper position at the top of the Another reason why play called. Look there!" And he dove ers hit the ground behind the ball for his house as if the Ghost Owl is because they slightly drop the right shoulder or knuckle the right he chuckled; as the silent water knee. A lot of men who don't own automobiles go through life af-flicted with "tire" trouble.

On the upward swing, do not keep the left knee too rigid, as this causes you to push at the ball. Then you cannot recover your balance or get the body back into the proper position to get the ball away with a straight club face on the front of the clubhead, and the body does not pivot properly. The body pivot is very important, but you must not forget that the body must work in complete unisonwrists and head as a kind of broth erhood who must never be allowed to fall out with one another. The nips must turn slightly, but do not overdo the hip turning or you will-lose control over the pivot, which is just as fatal as not pivoting

Above all, give the clubhead a chance. Allow it to go through after the ball, and you will do much to minimize the risk of slicing (End Chapter V)

Joyriders Crash Through, Winding up History of Old Span Hikers Warned to Walk So Says Assistant Secretary Coming Autonomics Sanders, Discussing Projects

PALO ALTO, Calif., July 18.-Another historic and none too beautiful landmark of old California perished recently at the hands of a joyriding automobilist.

The worm-eaten, acorn-filled archway that spanned the highway at Menlo Park was recently crashed into by two loads of joyriders, causing it to collapse after 68 years of

Throughout the growth of the town the arch stool there while the beyond the village, were transformed into the home of Sen-ator Stanford's world-famed racing es; then into a neighborhood of millionaire estates; then into a village surrounded by beautiful summer homes, and finally into a prosperous little town—famed in song and story in the "drinking at Stanford, when Charlie Meyers' place on the corner, with its carved tables, was a rendezvous for jolly sophomores and dignified seniors.

The arch will in all probability not be re-erected. The wood had rotted so that it is hardly worth restoring. Once, several years ago, it was partly blown over by the wind, but was put up again.

When the arch fell, from the cavities at its base rolled thousands of acorns stored there by generations of squirrels. Newcomers in the community, whose interest is in the future rather than the found the gate less a landmark than an eyesore, and are op-posed to putting it up again.

The arch was the subject of one of Dr. Carl G. Wilson's art photographs of the series "Portals of the Early Days," which was recently exhibited at the Stanword Art museum and elsewhere throughout California. The arch was built in

and Why Anxiety Hurts

By ALEC HERD (Written for the United Press) CHAPTER VI.

All beginners at golf are ambitious, and it has often occurred to me that their ambition is the cause of their undoing. It is so frequently centered on one strokethe full swing. When the swing is thoroughly mastered a man is on the way to the blissful realms of "plus" something. The great mis-take of most beginners is in wanting to tackle the full swing at the start. Many seem to think that the driver is the only club in the bag that counts.

The full swing is one of the hardest things in golf. I would like to advise all beginners to take great pains not to overdo the movement. Many are inclined to from India. take the club too far over the left shoulder, with the result that the clubhead dips too much from the horizontal Under-do the length of the top swing rather than exaggerate it, and you will much sooner acquire accuracy. Novices generally swing. They think there is no four swings. As a matter of fact, The bride is 21. the movements are fundamentally the same, except that they are curtailed or lengthened according to the shot required. The stance is very important. It is also difficult to teach. In simple words, the beginner should look as though he were about to connect squarely with the ball; that is, he should stand as squarely as pos- mony, the newly married couple sible, his left shoulder pointing a passed under an arch of swords little to the left. There are three different stances the open, the square, and the closed—and they are all a matter of convenience. I would advise the beginner to adopt that which is most natural to him. The open stance is the one in which the right foot is placed six inches further forward than the left. The feet are nearer together—about 18 inches apart—in the closed stance; and for the square stance the feet are absolutely square to the direction for which you are aiming, and the toes of both feet are on the same ginner to remember is to make up his mind quickly which stance suits him best and to stick to it. It is simply asking for trouble to waver. Every stage of the golf stroke must be a complete movement, with head, eyes, and body working in absolute unison.

The pig crop is short this year—but there is the usual abundance

SAN FRANCISCO, July 18 .-Hikers on state highways have been commanded to "keep to the left." While vehicular traffic "keeps to while vehicular traffic "keeps to the right," the new rule has been made necessary because of the heavy highway traffic, and the fact that hikers on the highway who that hikers on the highway who keep to the right have a constant stream of machines coming up behind them. They are unable to see these machines without turning around, which they seldom do, and as a consequence if any machine were suddenly forced off the road, or had an accident, injury to the hikers could not be avoided.

On the other hand, if the pedestrian walking on the highway keeps to the left he will walk with his face to the oncoming machines. Thus he is able to see what is going on, to get out of the way in time of danger, and to assure the motorist that he is now suddenly going to walk out in front of the machine because he hasn't seen it. Accidents, it is believed, will be greatly reduced by the new system. "Keeping to the right" by pedes-trians on the highway is largely a matter of habit, it is declared, and it is much more convenient and enjoyable for the pedestrian to keep to the left and not have the feeling that he should look behind all the time to see if the driver of the ma-chine is going to run him down.

Idea Meets With Approval of All Parents and Children

The Daily Vacation Bible schools in Eagle Rock are very successful and have a very good attendance. There are two fine schools in Eagle Rock, the Presbyterian and the Methodist.

Mrs. Mildred Leach, 671 East Sycamore avenue, is in charge of the Presbyterian Bible school. This has an enrollment of 163 pupils. Plans were made to enroll from 50 to 75 pupils, but 80 were enrolled

There are three divisions-kindergarden, primary and junior Miss Agnes Hamilton is in charge of the kindergarden, which has 35 pupils; Miss Georgia Peck, the primary department, which has 55 pupils, and Mrs. Creswell the juniors, who number 73, of which 37 are boys and 36 are girls. Mrs. Freeman is in charge of the craft-

The athletics are very well or ganized and the boys want some competition from other schools. An indoor ball game was played a week. ago last Saturday. Last Saturday a tennis tournament was held, but was, attended by boys only, as it looked like rain. Next Saturday a handball tournament will be held. The school starts at 9 o'clock and closes at 12 o'clock, but it is divided into periods of 30 minutes each for opening and closing exercises and supervised play and 45-minute periods for story-telling and craftwork.

Yesterday Mrs. Allison, a missionary from Guatemala, told the children about her life and her work among the Guatemalans. She was dressed in the native costume, which was very picturesque. Mrs. Allison also sang some Spanish songs. Her husband, Professor Allison, teaches Spanish at Occidental college. Mrs. Allison's father is a doctor and he established a clinic in Guatemala a short time before Mrs. Allison became a missionary.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

We stumble and grumble and blunder, We hurry and worry and fret, With wish and with sigh and with wonder, And it's little perhaps that we get.

We strive and we hope and we ponder, With blisters and bruises and sighs, But the end of the road is off yonder And the distance too great for our eyes.

We toiled with a ceaseless contriving, We labored with courage and will. And the hours they were hot with our striving.

As we struggled and climbed up the hill,

And we looked from the hilltop with yearning, And down the long valley and through, But the road, it kept winding and turning. JAMES W. JOLEY And the end of it never in view.

To find us the end of the road.

For the end of the road, it is gladness, And quiet and peace and content, Nor ever the echo of sadness, And onward we toiled and we went, And great ones and humble did ponder, And the strong and the weak and the wise, But the end of the road still off yonder, And the distance too great for their eyes,

"I AM THE LAW" AT THE T. D. & L.

"I Am the Law," a blue-blooded story of virile and scintillating action, laid in that god-forsaken land of barren whiteness and the snow drifts of the northwest, where the derelicks of humanity drift to make their last gold strike, where race or creed is forgotten in the race or creed is forgotten in the mad rush for the precious yellow metal-there in that country is laid the setting of a powerful photo-drama that comes to the T. D. and L. theatre today, heralded as greater in story and cast than any other production that has come to this city in a decade.
